PRESBYTERY TO OPEN TONIGHT

Representatives of Twenty-five Indiana United Presbyterian Churches Will Gather in Glenwood.

HANOVER MAN TALKS TONIGHT

Bert L. Trabue is Lay Delegate from Here—Business Session and Conference Tomorrow.

The annual meeting of the Indiana Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church will convene in Glenwood this evening at seven-thirty o'clock. The sessions will last all day tomorrow, and will be held in the Glenwood U. P. church.

The session will be opened this evening with an address by the Rev. C. W. Coleman of Hanover College. Tomorrow morning's session will be given over to transacting the business of the presbytery. In the afternoon an open conference will be conducted, and will be addressed by the Rev. Kimelshue of the Xenia Theological Seminary at Xenia, Ohio.

Approximately twenty-five Indiana United Presbyterian congregations in the State will be represented at the Presbytery meeting. The Indiana Presbytery includes the churches of southern and central Indiana. The congregations of northern Indiana are included in the Northern Indiana Presbytery.

Bert L. Trabue is the lay delegate from the local U. P. congregation, and will represent this church in the sessions. A few members of the Rushville congregation will likely attend the meeting. The Rev. A. W. Jamieson, the local pastor, will attend the sessions if possible. His father-in-law, the Rev. W. T. Campbell, who is confined to the Jamieson home with a very serious illness, demands the almost constant attention of the Rev. Mr. Jamieson, and it is doubtful, for that reason, whether he will be able to be present at all of the meetings.

The presbytery in the United Presbyterian church organization is the next organization above the congregation. The Synod is a larger subdivision and each has several presbyteries under its supervision. The synods come under the direction of the general assembly which is the national organization of the church.

COUNTY LANDMARK WAS DESTROYED

Log House in Jackson Township Built in 1843 When County Was Wilderness, Razed.

LAND WAS ENTERED IN 1830

The oldest landmark, and the oldest log house in Jackson township, and possibly in Rush county, passed into oblivion a few days ago, when the old two-story house on the Elmer Ellison farm was torn down. It was the homestead of the late John Porter, who owned it until a few years ago. The log house was built in 1843 by Mr. Porter's father. He entered the land on which the house was located back in 1830 when Rush county was little more than a wilderness. The house was built in the center of a thick forest in a small clearing made for the purpose. During the sixty-nine years that it has stood, the old house has been occupied all but about ten years.

MEET AGAIN IN A WEEK

Federated Charities Have Special Session Next Monday.

The first regular meeting of the Federated Charities of Rushville was held in the library rest room in the court house yesterday. The attendance was large and many things pertaining to the organization were discussed. A number of plans were suggested to place the new organization on a working basis, and some of them will likely be given shape at a special meeting of association, which will be held at the same place next Monday afternoon.

ASKS MOTHER'S DAY BE OBSERVED

State Superintendent Sets Aside May 10 For This Purpose—in all Public Schools.

ARBOR DAY WILL BE APRIL 26

Charles A. Greathouse, State superintendent of public instruction, has issued a letter to the teachers of the State, asking that they observe Mother's day, May 10, by giving a part of the day to teaching the children something about the sacrifice mothers make to help their children through school and to make them manly men and womanly women. The plan of observing the day annually was introduced last year.

Following the annual Arbor day proclamation by the governor, Mr. Greathouse has issued the annual Arbor day proclamation from his department. April 26 is the date selected for observing the day this spring, when the observation will be confined to city and town schools, as virtually all the country schools have been dismissed. The country schools observe Arbor day exercises in the fall.

CONVERTED INTO A DUMPING LOT

City Piles Stone on One Corner of Park, Making it More Unightly.

PASTURE FOR LIVE STOCK

Only Use to Which it is Put For Chautauqua—Natural Resources Wasted.

The agitation for the improvement of the city park is growing daily. The belief that the park should be beautified, and that it is little more than worthless as it now stands, is a common one among citizens of Rushville.

The park contains four acres of valuable ground. As one man stated today, it is almost sinful to allow such a tract, that might be made to be an adornment to the city, to be wasted by lack of improvement. It has been shown that the cost of making a good park out of it, one which the residents of Rushville would enjoy would not be large.

It is argued by many that the expenditure of a much greater amount of money than that required to improve the tract of land would not be a waste of money. It is, rather, considered extravagance by many because such a valuable piece of land is allowed to go to waste, as it were, when a small expense would make it worth while.

The natural scenery in the park is such that most cities would be proud of it. It is pointed out that advantage would be taken of a gift like the one to the city of Rushville.

The city park has never served but for two purposes: for the chautauqua and a dumping ground for the city. Some residents of that section of the city have made a pasturing ground out of the city park for their cows and horses. It has never been put to any other use.

There is nothing to attract people to the city park. There are no benches, no pretty walks, no beautiful drives and flower beds to cause people to seek the city park out on hot Sunday afternoons, or in the cool of a summer evening for recreation.

Instead the city park has been used as a dumping ground by the city. One corner of the four-acre tract has been set aside for a stone pile. All of the stone gutter that has been removed in the city in the last few years has been dumped on the southwest corner of the park. It makes the park more unsightly than it would otherwise be.

The city council has a park committee. That committee has had little opportunity to get in any good looks. When its chairman made a report on a method to improve the park, the report was promptly buried without being given any consideration.

ISAAC T. SANDERS DIES

He had been in poor health for some time and had been critically ill for the last several days. The funeral will be held some time tomorrow. Mr. Sanders lived with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. McDaniel, and her husband. He is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Goble, wife of the Mays druggist. His wife died several years ago.

OTHER CITIES HAVE TROUBLE

But They All Solve Water Problems and Avert Dangers of a Famine.

AN INSTANCE AT COLUMBUS

Will Hold Special Election to Decide Whether Mechanical Filter Should be Bought.

Other cities, besides Rushville have had to face water famine dangers. Many of them, close neighbors, have solved the problem. In fact, there is none which is in such dire distress in regard to water as is Rushville now. Connersville had trouble, but they have plenty of water there now. New-castle has been threatened once with a water famine in recent years.

Columbus, which, as does Rushville depends on the well system for a water supply, is up against the water problem, but is not in quite as bad a way as is this city. Columbus has been working on the job, though. It is proposed to buy a mechanical filter and use river water.

One week from today a special election will be held there to determine whether or not the city shall have an adequate supply of absolutely pure water. The mechanical filter, so generally endorsed, is opposed by many. More than that the opposition is formidable and is working much harder against the filter than the friends of the proposition are working for it.

The city administration, according to the Columbus Republican, has faithfully promised that the new filter will not raise the taxes a cent and the water rates will not be raised either. Practically half of the money needed will be on hand when the filter is completed, and the rest can be raised by the sale of bonds. The earnings from the filter will pay for it, and the decrease in the typhoid fever rate will save many human lives and thousands of dollars.

The city council has unanimously endorsed the filter. The city officers are working for it. The manufacturers of Columbus have publicly endorsed the proposition and say it is a good thing. The newspapers have endorsed it, and there is no politics in the question at any stage. Now comes a statement from the physicians of Columbus in which they unanimously endorse the filter and urge the people to vote for it. That just about makes it unanimous.

Here is what the physicians say: "We, the undersigned physicians of Columbus, Indiana, do hereby express our most hearty approval of steps now under way to provide the city with a mechanical filtration plant. In our judgment no other investment would yield so large a return; and we hope that, when submitted to an election, it will carry overwhelmingly."

The March number of the College World, published by the literary societies of Adrian College, Adrian, Mich., has a poem entitled "Radamantus Insane" by Clarence C. Stevens. TO BE CENTER OF INQUIRY

Knightstown Editor to be Called in "Blind Tiger" Probe.

Wallace K. Deem, editor of the Knightstown Banner has frequently charged that blind tigers are running in his town, and he has berated the police for not closing them. The police there believe that editor Deem, although a total abstainer, knows something about the blind tigers, and he will be the central figure in a court of inquiry that will be held.

APPOINTEE IS T.M. GREEN'S FRIEND

Newell Sanders, Named U. S. Senator From Tennessee, and Local Man Chums in College.

HAS VISITED IN RUSHVILLE

Newell Sanders, a wealthy manufacturer of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was yesterday appointed United States senator by Governor Hopper to fill the unexpired term of Senator Robert L. Taylor of Tennessee, was a chum and close friend of T. M. Green's of this city, while the two were students together in Indiana University. Mr. Green and Mr. Sanders boarded and roomed together at Bloomington and were the closest of friends. Mr. Sanders has been in Rushville on business and has been the guest of the local attorney.

Mr. Sanders was born in Monroe county and reared in Bloomington. He was of poor parentage, and worked his way through Indiana University, and received a diploma from the State institution. He is a staunch supporter of President Taft.

AGED MINISTER IN A BAD CONDITION

The Rev. W. T. Campbell, Father of Mrs. A. W. Jamieson Confined Here With Creeping Paralysis.

EDUCATORS BOARD CHAIRMAN

The Rev. W. T. Campbell, father of Mrs. A. W. Jamieson, who has been residing, together with his wife, at the home of the local United Presbyterian pastor, is very seriously ill, and demands constant attention. The Rev. Mr. Campbell is afflicted with creeping paralysis, and that illness, combined with old age, makes his condition extremely serious. It is feared that he may not survive the attack. He has been in poor health for some time, and has been able to be out of doors very little during the last winter. He is seventy-six years old.

The Rev. Mr. Campbell is very prominent in the United Presbyterian church. He was pastor in the church for years, and filled many pulpits temporarily. He has been honored by the church by being made the chairman of the board of education which governs the colleges and seminaries under the direction of the church. It will be remembered it was at his call the presidents of the United Presbyterian educational institutions were called here last winter for a conference. The Rev. Mr. Campbell's wife was formerly head of the Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio.

FIRST MONDAY IN MAY LAST CHANCE

That Will be Last Opportunity to Pay Your Spring Installment of Taxes.

LIABLE TO HEAVY PENALTY

Treasurer Can no Longer Hold Books Open For People Who Delay in This Matter.

The people of the city of Rushville and of Rush county should bear in mind that the first Monday in May, which is May 6, will be the last day for paying taxes and avoid the penalty, which is attached after that date.

Time was when the county treasurer had the right to hold his books open indefinitely in order to accommodate the people. It has been known where a treasurer would hold the books open for a month after the last legal day for paying taxes and allow property owners to come forward at that time, take up their receipts and avoid paying any penalty.

The law has been so changed that it is not possible for the treasurer to do so any more. If he holds out receipts he is liable for them under the law. The law requires that he make his report immediately after the first Monday in May, and that report must show the amount of taxes collected and the amount of delinquency outstanding. For that reason it is impossible for him to accommodate people by holding their receipts, unless he is willing to pay the amounts himself and thus show it as so much cash collected.

In the city of Rushville the people pay their taxes at the court house. All taxes are paid there, as the city treasurer does not collect the taxes. That duty is performed by the county treasurer.

The taxpayer who allows his taxes to go delinquent is subject to a heavy penalty which frequently amounts to 20 per cent and it is very plain that it does not pay to allow delinquencies.

Property owners must bear in mind that if they expect to get advantage of the mortgage exemption law they must file their affidavits during this month. After April no mortgage exemptions can be filed. This must be done at this time.

Many people pay their taxes for the entire year at the first payment, as a result of that the first installment is larger than the last half.

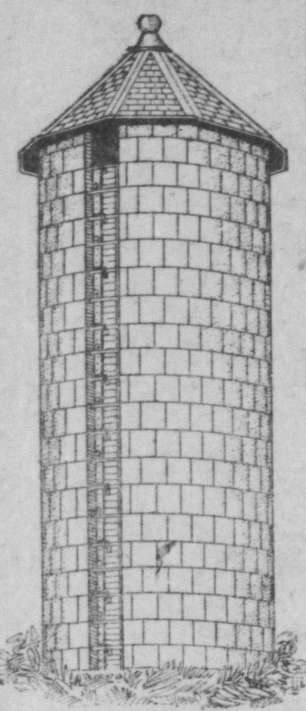

EYE PUT OUT BY ARROW

Little Girl Suffered Painful Injury This Morning.

Alice Peters, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Peters, living one and one-half mile northwest of Glenwood, sustained a painful injury this morning which cost her the sight of her left eye. The little girl and her nine-year-old brother, Hale, were playing with a bow and arrow in the front yard of their home. Hale shot the arrow into the air and due to the strong wind it was deflected hitting the little girl in the eye. The arrow was of wood and had a rather blunt point but the eyeball was punctured. Dr. W. S. Coleman was called and found that the sight had been destroyed.

The Band of Workers of the First Presbyterian church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Joe Cowing in North Main street tomorrow afternoon.

D.D. BEACH ATTEMPT TO KILL HIS WIFE?

This Is the Charge That Stirs New York Society

Aiken, S. C., April 9.—Charging Frederick O. Beach, New York society man, and a member of the Aiken millionaire colony, with assault and battery with intent to kill his wife, Mrs. Camilla Beach, a warrant has been sworn out here. This action grows out of the murderous assault made on Mrs. Beach on the night of Feb. 26, when she was felled with a fence paling and her throat slashed while in the yard of her winter home, which has been the season's sensation at this resort. It was claimed by the Beachs that Mrs. Beach had been called out to the gate by a negro man who said he had a note for her; that she went to get it, and that the negro then slashed her throat and made his escape in the darkness. A warrant charging the crime to Mrs. Beach's husband has been expected for more than a week. Beach, with his wife, is in Europe.

The news that a warrant had been issued charging Mr. Beach with the crime that the Beachs persistently had denied caused a sensation.

INFRINGEMENT

Government Found Guilty of "Adopting" an Inventor's Device.

Washington, April 9.—Uncle Sam has been declared guilty by the supreme court of misappropriating a patent safety device for breech-loading guns claimed by Colonel De Bange, a French army officer. An award of $136,000 damages against the government, given by the court of claims, was affirmed by the supreme court. The French officer claimed $1,400,000 damages.

Colonel De Bange explained his device to a United States military board in 1883 and alleged the board adopted his patent without compensating him. The government denied infringement of the patent, declaring the device used was only an improved adaptation of the De Bange contrivance.

RIVER DANGERS LESS MENACING

Waters Receding at Cairo and Memphis.

LOWER STRETCHES IN DANGER

Gravest Danger Now Is Reported in That Portion of Mississippi Valley From Yazoo South, Crest of Gigaotic Flood Being Felt There—At Cairo Both the Ohio and the Mississippi Rivers Are Reported Stationary.

St. Louis, April 9.—Appreciably improved is the situation in the flooded districts in the Mississippi valley at the points heretofore seriously menaced as far south as Memphis. Reports from Memphis and Cairo are that the river is falling and at the latter place the situation is easing materially. From Hickman, Ky., comes news that the river has fallen rapidly and is stationary today. Evansville also reported the river stationary at that point and the outlook more hopeful than at any time. Quincy and nearly all points on the Mississippi above Cairo reported the river receding. While the conditions at Cairo and Memphis are much better, there is still grave danger and precautions are continued to prevent levee breaks.

The river situation has grown worse at Arkansas City, and prisoners have been removed to Pine Bluff. Reports to the Mississippi river commission state that the struggle against the gravest dangers and imminent disasters of the present flood now is in the Yazoo district on the lower Mississippi. At Kansas City the worst of the flood condition is over, but it will be several days before trains over the 'Frisco can get through to Memphis.

HE DENIES IT

Dr. Funk's Spirit Is Not Being Sought by Dr. Hyslop.

Boston, April 9.—Dr. James H. Hyslop of New York, who is in Boston for a few days, denies that he has made any plans to communicate with Isaac K. Funk, eminent exponent of psychical research, who died last week. A dispatch from New York recently said that Dr. Funk had announced that he and a friend of his, also an eminent psychologist, had arranged a code of signals with the understanding that Dr. Funk after death should endeavor to communicate with his friend on earth by one or more of these signals. It was intimated that this earthly friend was Dr. Hyslop, president of the Psychical Research society. Dr. Hyslop, however, says emphatically that the dispatch, as far as he is concerned, was erroneous.

It is the opinion of psychists that whatever attempt shall be made to communicate with Dr. Funk, it is yet too early to determine the results of any investigations in this respect into the spirit world. It is contended that before any conclusion authentic enough to satisfy a psychist could be reached the investigator would have to receive several manifestations of specific and correlated value.

ANOTHER VICTIM

Nineteenth Horrid Crime of Atlanta's Jack the Ripper.

Atlanta, Ga., April 9.—When he lured Mary Kates, a comely eighteen-year-old mulatto girl, into an alley, cut her throat from ear to ear, and then mutilated her body about the breast and below the waist, Atlanta's Jack the Ripper had his nineteenth victim. The girl's body was found today. The murderer had entirely disrobed her after cutting her throat. The clothing was neatly piled by the body. The mutilation of the girl's body was evidently done with a surgical instrument and the slayer had some anatomical knowledge, as one of the organs was deftly removed. Mary Kates is the nineteenth yellow girl who has been murdered in Atlanta in the nine months.

STUCK TO IT

Crew of Burning Ship Decline to Leave When Passengers Depart.

Montauk, L. I., April 9.—The steamship Ontario, bound from Baltimore to Boston, was beached a mile and a half west of Montauk Point light with her forward hold crammed with burning bales of cotton. Her thirty passengers were taken off and carried in a tug to New London. Her crew and Captain W. J. Bond are still aboard throwing smoldering cotton and kegs of rosin into the sea and lowering the rest of her cargo into lighters. They think the fire is under control and that the ship will be saved and floated.

BRAND NEW STAR IS LOCATED IS GEMINI.

H. W. Vrooman, a Kokomo star gazer, announces there is a brand new star in the sky. It is of the third magnitude, plainly visible to the naked eye, and is easy to locate. Here's how:

Locate the genuine. From them you can of course find Thetus Geminorum. Then look about two degrees west of Thetus and there you are.

Mr. Vrooman says that the scientific theory of what is known as "temporary" stars is that at some comparatively recent date—say 10,000 years, two suns collided, and the incandescence that resulted created the light that has just reached earth. Since the new star is 10,000 light years away, it will not be possible to visit it, but it presents rather a fine sight just now.

In the improbable event that there is a clear night sometime during the next few weeks or months you can locate the twin stars of the Gemini, (Cantor and Pollis, y'know) almost directly overhead.

Thence west to the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of said section fifteen, thence south to the south line of said section twenty-two, thence west to the southeast corner of the west half of the southwest quarter of said section twenty-two, thence south to the township line, which line is the dividing line between the townships of Walker and Orange, said county and State.

Your petitioners respectfully petition that said highway be improved by grading, draining and paving the same with gravel or stone or combination of same, and that the width of said highway be established as thirty feet. That all necessary drains, side drains, bridges, culverts and sewers therein be so constructed as to make said gravel road a complete gravel road.

Said petitioners further show that said Walker township has no incorporated town or city within its borders. That said road will be of public utility and that it will be of public utility to grade, drain and pave the same hereinbefore set out, and that the costs of the same will be less than the benefits derived therefrom and that said road will not pass through or into any incorporated city or town.

Said petitioners further show that said road is less than three miles in length, to-wit: 2½ miles more or less; that it connects with a free gravel road on the north and with a township line on the south, and your petitioners pray for the improvement of said highway in all things in accordance with Sections 62 to 83 inclusive of the acts of the General Assembly of 1905 (entitled An Act Concerning Highways) and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

That all of said proposed road is traversed by a Rural Route with the exception of one-half mile more or less.

THE PRESIDENT'S ECONOMY RECORD

Taft Insists That Government Be Run on Sound Business Basis.

HIS PROGRESSIVE POLICY.

His Personal Efforts to Reduce Cost of Efficient Service Bring Results—Business Methods Applied—Economy and Efficiency Commission Fought by Democrats.

President Taft more than any of his predecessors in the White House has given strict attention to placing the government upon a business basis as regards its receipts and expenditures. Economy and efficiency became one of the cardinal policies of his administration as soon as he entered upon the presidency, and it was well for the country that this was so, for his administration inherited a deficit in the treasury of $58,000,000, which has now been transformed into a surplus of $30,000,000. The average citizen and taxpayer will be interested in this fact, because the problem which confronted the president at the outset, although upon a gigantic scale, was similar to that of the ordinary shopkeeper or business man, farmer or wage earner or even housewife who is called upon to make "both ends meet" either in business or in the home.

By law the secretary of the treasury is called upon every year to submit to congress in December the "estimates" of governmental expenditures for the next fiscal year, beginning the following July 1. As congress has to provide the money to run the government, ment began work at once to investigate its own expenditures and to devise ways and means of curtailing extravagances. The result was that congress received the lowest estimates it had seen in years. This was followed by a reduction in appropriations to correspond, always allowing for the natural growth of the government's activities, which represented a net saving to the taxpayers of the country.

President Taft was not, however, satisfied that all had been done that could be done. He realized that the departments of the government, like individuals, are naturally prone to be proud of their own achievements and by reason of their familiarity with their own endeavors often insisted that their work was more important than the work of the other departments, relatively speaking. In order to correct that evil he asked congress to give him $100,000 for a commission of disinterested experts to investigate and report on the business of the government, with a view to further economy and efficiency. Thus came into official being the commission of that name.

This commission, among other duties, was directed to prepare the receipts and expenditures of the government on a "budget" basis, which is the system followed by practically all the leading nations of the world except the United States. Under this system it is possible for the humblest citizen to analyze the finances of the government at any time and to lay his finger upon the responsible political party in the event of extravagance or of stinginess. The system under which appropriations for the government of the United States have been made has even defied the experts in their endeavors to unravel the tangled skeins of expenditures, so that it is a fair statement to say that no citizen of this country up to the present time has ever thoroughly understood where his taxes were expended.

The President's Position.

At the present time the Democratic house of representatives is endeavoring to end the usefulness of the econ-

I took everything I heard of for asthma and doctored also but got no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It helped me from the first dose, and the continued use cured me. TELLS HOOSIERS HE WILL TRY IT AGAIN

The Colonel Not Discouraged By Probable Defeat.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 9.—After a strenuous day in Illinois, Colonel Roosevelt, entering Indiana, spoke at Lafayette, Logansport, Wahash, Peru, Washington and Fort Wayne last night. At Peru the colonel, talking of being guided by the honest vote of the people, made this statement: "If after hearing me you decide against me, very well; I'll try it again another time, and try to get you."

There were those who interpreted this as a look ahead to another run by the colonel in 1916, but those who caught his meaning considered it another way of the colonel's phrasing his constantly repeated sentiment, "the fight has just begun."

SAME OLD GROUCH—KALER

No extremely difficult engineering problems were encountered between Rushville and Brookville.—Republican.

Of course, Everybody knows that Cracker Ridge is a dead level plain only a couple of hundred feet or so above the river bottom and that getting toe-holds along the winding foot hills north and east and west of Good Luck camp and elsewhere for traction tracks is as simple as rolling out of bed. Why high priced engineers should be employed for such simple work is amazing.—Connersville Echo.

Oh pshaw now! Surely this is a new version of the fox and grapes. Shades of Big Williams Creek and the 4½ per cent grade out of Connersville! Ye brakes and brake of bonny Bunker Hill! And yet the pencil pusher of the Echo fessed to us, going to Cambridge one night that this is the proper route.—Andersonville Herald.

COVERED WITH ANGRY PIMPLES

A Skin Trouble That Needs Scientific Treatment.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Instead of bothering with cosmetics and worthless "beauty formulas" if you will treat that case of pimples scientifically you will get results.

We advise using our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, which is very soothing, yet penetrates the skin and exerts its healing power from the very moment of application.

Any pure soap may be used with this remedy—just apply Saxon Salve at night, following directions. Not only does it clear the face of pimples but eczema and other angry, itching, scaly or crusted eruptions soon yield to its healing power.

The marked and continual improvement noticed shortly after the treatment is begun will soon convince you that Saxon Salve is far superior to any other remedy for the skin.

If you do not get good results from it we pay back your money. F. B. Johnson & Company, druggists, Rushville, Ind.

United on Tariff.

That the tariff is no longer a bone of contention between Republican members of the House of Representatives was made plain by the vote on the wool bill on April 1. The crucial test of Republicanism came on the motion of Representative Sereno E. Payne of New York to re-commit the Democratic bill and substitute the Republican wool revision bill, based absolutely on the report of the tariff board, which was put into the Payne tariff law by President Taft and his friends. It will be recalled that the greatest split in the Republican ranks in 1909 occurred over the wool schedule and it is a remarkable fact that the first tariff measure upon which the Republicans were again to show a united front was the wool bill offered by the Republican minority in the House April 1. Thus under the leadership of President Taft the party split on wool and has again been reunited on the tariff on that schedule by reason of the tariff board asked for and appointed by President Taft.

An analysis of the vote on the motion to substitute the Republican wool bill is most interesting. Twenty Republicans voted against the conference report on the Payne tariff bill in the house of representatives and eleven of these twenty on April 1 voted for the Republican bill based on the tariff board report, as follows:

Representatives Haugen, Hubbard, and Kendall of Iowa; Mann of Illinois; Miller, Nye, Steenerson, Stevens and Volstead of Minnesota; Murdock of Kansas; Nelson of Wisconsin.

Three Republicans who voted against the Payne law were paired with Democrats and would have voted for the bill had they been present: Cary, Wisconsin; Davis, Minnesota; and Woods, Iowa.

The only Republican not paired who voted against the Payne bill and who did not vote was Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin.

The only Republican who voted against both the Payne bill and the Republican substitute bill on April 1 was Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota.

The only other Republican to vote against the Republican substitute bill was Representative William Kent of California, a warm supporter of Col. Roosevelt.

This accounts for sixteen of the original opponents of the Payne bill on the vote on April 1. As indicated above four of the members who voted against the Payne bill are no longer members of the House. Three of them have Republican successors, however, and one was succeeded by a Democrat. Two of the three Republicans voted for the Republican substitute on April 1 and one was paired as follows:

Voted for the bill:

Representative LaFollette of Washington, who succeeded Senator Miles Poindexter; Representative DeForest of New York, who succeeded George N. Southwick.

Paired:

Representative Helgesen of North Dakota, who succeeded Senator Asle-

Sam Sanderson Says:

That the Editorialettes are reliable because they lie, and then re-lie. Skinny pants and short coats will prove that oft-repeated phrase that nobody loves a fat man.

Gronna.

Representative Keifer of Ohio was succeeded by a Democrat.

The recapitulation, therefore, shows that thirteen congressional districts which were represented as against the Payne bill in 1909 voted to support the Republican substitute bill on April 1; that six more districts against the Payne bill did not have their votes recorded and that one district is now requested by a Democrat. The net result is a great victory for President Taft as the party on the tariff issue, which reputation was accomplished through the medium of the tariff board asked for, approved and appointed by President Taft himself. As indicating the capacity of the President for safe and sane leadership the outcome is significant.

On Which Side?

On which side of the fence is the Indianapolis Star now? It's editorial policy breathes of Taft fragrance while its news columns are devoted to wonderful doings of the mighty African hunter. In that manner the Star evidently intends to carry water on both shoulders, hold subscribers and please the followers of both candidates.

One morning we see a cartoon very favorable to Taft and the next morning we read a two column article of what T. R. has said. At the same time Taft has carried four States, and we read very little about that in the news columns of the Indianapolis Star.

Taft last Saturday got a solid delegation in West Virginia and Kentucky to control both States. In Iowa he lacks but one delegate to control the State delegation, and he will most likely get that one necessary delegate in the nine remaining counties that are to elect this week. But it is little of that information that is gleaned from the Star.

The oracle of Oyster Bay has been asserting that his strength lay in the wild and woolly western States. But the returns from Nevada disprove this, as do those from Iowa. So far Roosevelt has twenty-five delegates in Iowa. Taft has 741 and Senator Cummins, 650. Iowa is Cummins' home.

Of course, contests have been filed in all of the States, in nearly every district where Taft delegates were elected, which is in accordance with instructions from New York headquarters.

That Word "Honeyfugle."

Charles Mortimer Peck, writing in Newspaperdom, says of President Taft's latest addition to Webster's vocabulary:

President Taft retained all of my admiration until his Boston blunder. He attended a dinner given in his honor by the Pilgrim Publicity Association and during the course of his brief remarks declared that nobody could "honeyfugle" the people.

Abraham Lincoln made the same point in a more elegant manner, and then P. T. Barnum came along and proved that the people loved to be humbugged.

But I'm not finding fault with this difference of opinion and practice.

What gets my goat is that word "honeyfugle."

He might as well have exclaimed, "O persimmons!" or "O sphaw!" or made use of any of those sissy ejaculations.

"Honeyfugle" sounds more like an indoor sport than a harsh invective to be hurled at Teddy Roosevelt, and yet there is little doubt that Teddy has "honeyfugled" the people good and proper and likes it so well that he is going to try it again.

But President Taft must brace up. He must dig up a word that will be shorter and uglier and more condemning—a word that will cause the bad bivalve from Oyster Bay to shrivel up and pass away.

If I can be of any assistance to you Mr. President, command me at any time.

Several members, during the past few days having told me that certain Old-line agents had informed them that I was going to quit the Modern Woodmen and had contracted with a certain Old-line company to act as their agent here, I wish to say that such statements are absolutely false and that if ever I should quit the Woodmen I will not select any Old-line agent to inform the members of that fact. "Niagara Honeymoon," a Thanhoouser drama, is one of the pictures at the Palace tonight. The story ends in a romance. The little widow wins the love and hand of the family's millionaire cousin. The picture is full of very interesting honeymoon scenes including Niagara Falls. "The New Ranch Owner" a Nestor western drama, is the other film.

TALKED WATER QUESTION

Councilmen Got Their Heads Together Last Night.

Some of the city councilmen got their heads together at the council chamber last evening and discussed the water situation. They refused to divulge any of the lines of conversation, and declared that nothing of importance was done as the city clerk did not attend the meeting and there was no presiding officer. It is presumed that they considered the digging of more wells as an effort was made to get a local well digger before the councilmen.

Mr. Foulke says that Collector Neal is no longer boosting for Senator Beveridge and his friends, and should therefore be removed.

The lake lay directly in front of him beyond the trees at the foot of the knoll, and between him and the slope that led up to the hut. If it had been summer, he would have been compelled to follow the water's edge to the right or to the left; both journeys would have led over difficult trails, with little to choose between them. But the lake was now frozen hard and covered with snow. He had no doubt that the snow would bear him, but to make sure he drew his snow shoes from his shoulder, slipped his feet in the straps, and sped straight on through the trees and across it like an arrow from a bow.

In five minutes he was at the foot of the giant stairs. Kicking off his snow shoes, he scrambled up the broken way, easily finding in the snow a trail which had evidently been passed and repassed daily. In a few moments he was at the top of the shelf. A hard trampled path ran between high walls of snow to a door!

Behind that door what would he find? Just what he brought to it, love and hate, he fancied. We usually find on the other side of doors no more and no less than we bring to our own sides. But whatever was there there was no hesitation in Armstrong's course. He ran forward, laid his hand on the latch, and opened it.

What creatures of habit we are! Early in that same morning, after one vain attempt again to influence the it up in half that time, but even so they would probably suffer not too great discomfort before he got back.

All these preparations took some little time. It had grown somewhat late in the morning before he started. There had been a fierce storm raging when he first looked out and at her earnest solicitation he had delayed his departure until it had subsided.

His tasks at the corral were at last completed; he had done what he could for them both, nothing now remained but to make the quickest and safest way to the settlement. Shouldering the pack containing his axe and gun and sleeping bag and such provision as would serve to tide him over until he reached human habitations, he set forth. He did not look up to the hut, indeed he could not have seen it for the corral was almost directly beneath it, but if it had been in full view he would not have looked back, he could not trust himself to, every instinct, every impulse in his soul would fain drag him back to that hut and to the woman. It was only his will and, did he but know it, her will that made him carry out his purpose.

He would have saved perhaps half a mile on his journey if he had gone straight across the lake to the mouth of the canon. We are creatures of habit. He had always gone around the lake on the familiar trail and unconsciously he followed that trail that morning. He was thinking of her as he plodded on in a mechanical way while the trail followed the border of the lake for a time, plunged into the woods, wound among the pines, at least reaching that narrow rift in the encircling wall through which the river flowed. He had passed along the trail oblivious to all his surroundings, but as he came to the entrance he could not fail to notice what he suddenly saw in the snow.

Robinson Crusoe when he discovered the famous footprint of Man Friday.

"You!" She Exclaimed, Almost in Terror.

day in the sand was not more astonished at what met his vision than Newbold on that winter morning. For there, in the virgin whiteness, were the tracks of a man!

He stopped dead with a sudden contraction of the heart. Humanity other than he and she in that wilderness? It could not be! For a moment he doubted the evidence of his own senses. He shook his pack loose from his shoulders and bent down to examine the tracks to read if he could their indications. He could see that some one had come up the canon, that some one had leaned against the wall, that some one had gone on. Where had he gone?

To follow the new trail was child's play for him. He ran by the side of it until he reached the knoll. The stranger had stopped again, he had shifted from one foot to another, evidently he had been looking about him seeking some one, only Enid Maitland of course. The trail ran forward to the edge of the frozen lake, there the man had put on his snow shoes, there he had sped across the lake like an arrow, and like an arrow himself although he had left behind his own snow shoes, Newbold ran upon his track. Fortunately the snow crust upbore him. The trail ran straight to the foot of the rocky stairs. The newcomer had easily found his way there.

With beating heart and throbbing pulse, Newbold himself bounded up the acclivity after the stranger, marking as he did so evidences of the other's prior ascent. Reaching the top like him he ran down the narrow path, and in his turn laid his hand upon the door.

He was not mistaken, he heard voices within. He listened a second and then flung it open, and as the other had done, he entered.

Way back on the trail, old Kirkby and Robert Maitland, the storm having ceased, were rapidly climbing up the canon. Fate was bringing all the actors of the little drama within the shadow of her hand.

CHAPTER XXI.

The Odds Against Him.

The noise of the opening of the door and the inrush of cold air that followed awoke Enid Maitland to instant action. She rose to her feet and faced the entrance through which she expected Newbold to reappear—for of course the newcomer must be he—and for the life of her she could not help that radiating flash of joy, the momentary anticipation of which fairly transfigured her being; although if she had stopped to reflect she would have remembered that not in the whole course of their acquaintance had Newbold ever entered her room at any time without knocking and receiving permission.

Some of that joy yet lingered in her lovely face when she tardily recognized the newcomer in the half light. Armstrong, scarcely waiting to close the door, sprang forward joyfully with his hands outstretched.

"Enid!" he cried.

Naturally he thought the look of expectant happiness he had surprised upon her face was for him and he accounted for its sudden disappearance by the shock of his unexpected, unannounced, abrupt, entrance.

The warm color had flushed her face, but as she stared at him her aspect rapidly changed. She grew paler. The happy light that had shone in her eyes faded away and as he approached her she shrank back.

"You!" she exclaimed almost in terror.

"Yes," he answered smilingly, "I have found you at last. Thank God you are safe and well. Oh, if you could only know the agonies I have gone through. I thought I loved you when I left you six weeks ago, but now—"

In eager impetuosity he drew nearer to her. Another moment and he would have taken her in his arms, but she would have none of him.

"Stop," she said with a cold and inflexible sternness that gave pause even to his buoyant joyful assurance.

"Why, what's the matter?"

"The matter? Everything, but—"

"No evasions, please," continued the man still cheerfully but with a growing misgiving. His suspicions, in abeyance for the moment because of his joy at seeing her alive and well, arose with renewed force. "I left you practically pledged to me," he resumed.

"Not so fast," answered Enid Maitland, determined to combat the lightest attempt to establish a binding claim upon her.

"Isn't it true?" asked Armstrong. "Here, wait," he said before she could answer, "I am half frozen, I have been searching for you since early morning in the storm." He unbuttoned and unbelted his huge fur coat as he spoke and threw it carelessly on the floor by his Winchester leaning against the wall. "Now," he resumed, "I can talk better."

"You must have something to eat then," said the girl.

TWO BROTHERS NOW ON TRIAL

Murder of George W. Stibbens Recalled.

EVIDENCE IS CIRCUMSTANTIAL

Based Upon the Allegation That Edward and Ray Stibbens Had Been Estranged From Their Father and No Other Motive for the Crime Appearing, Brothers Are Held to Answer For Father's Murder.

Bloomfield, Ind., April 9.—The trial of Slater Edward Stibbens and Ray Stibbens, charged with the murder of their father, George W. Stibbens, one of the largest land owners in Knox county, last November, was called for trial in the Greene circuit court today.

The case came here on a change of venue from Knox county about a month ago. Since then the prisoners have been here in the county jail. Two sisters and the wife of Ray Stibbens came here at the same time, and since then have regularly prepared meals and carried them to the prisoners.

Edward Stibbens is the older brother and is unmarried. He is a graduate of the state normal school and Indiana university, and has been principal of the schools at Westphalia, Monroe City and at Hazleton. The defendants will enter a plea of not guilty. The evidence against them is purely circumstantial. While their father was feeding hogs on the evening of Dec. 17, 1911, he was shot in the head and killed. The scene of the shooting was only a short distance from the family home, and yet no member of the household says he heard the report of any revolver. It is alleged the sons had not been on friendly terms with their father for some time, Edward and his father being particularly estranged, according to report. Two days after the tragedy Edward was arrested, and a few days later his brother Ray was placed in jail.

STATE CONVENTION

Indiana Republican Committee Will Settle Date Thursday.

Indianapolis, April 9.—Fred A. Sims, Republican state chairman, has called a meeting of the state committee for 7:30 next Thursday night for the purpose of fixing the time for holding the Republican state convention.

At this convention the Republican state ticket will be nominated and the state platform will be adopted. There has been some talk about holding the convention on July 2, but the general opinion among Republicans appears to be that this will not be a satisfactory date, and that it should be set for some time later in the season, either the latter part of July or the first of August.

Sentence May Be Stayed.

Jeffersonville, Ind., April 9.—John Fritz, condemned to hang before sunrise on June 14 for the murder of Hiram B. McWilliam, a guard at the Indiana reformatory on Nov. 21, 1911, has been taken to the penitentiary at Michigan City. Preparations are being made to appeal the case to the supreme court, and execution of the sentence may be stayed by that court when the case comes before it.

Train Left Track.

Milford, Ind., April 9.—A through freight train on the Big Four jumped the track here and a dozen cars plunged into the depot and the Ogden flouring mill, completely demolishing the greater portion of the structures. Charles Caney of Warsaw, who was riding on the train, was fatally injured.

Stepped From Train and Shot Himself.

South Bend, Ind., April 9.—Crazed by grief over the death of his mother, Louis Haver of Chicago left a Lake Shore passenger train here and, walking a short distance down the station platform, deliberately drew a revolver and shot himself. The bullet grazed the heart and he may die.

He Wanted to Investigate.

Hammond, Ind., April 9.—His curiosity aroused by hearing his parents discuss the dike floods in the Kankakee river, Charles Solomon, aged four, son of A. Rachman, slipped away and climbed to the top of the Brown dike. He fell in the river and was drowned.

An Alarming Increase.

Indianapolis, April 9.—Deaths from all railroad accidents in Indiana, including steam road, interurban and street railway accidents, increased 53.9 per cent in the ten years ending Dec. 31, 1911, according to figures compiled by the state bureau of statistics.

Woman May Die of Wounds.

Richmond, Ind., April 9.—Mrs. Marie Edgar, colored, was stabbed by her husband, Russell Edgar, and probably will die from the wounds. The woman's refusal to live with her husband because of mistreatment caused the assault. Edgar is in jail.

Gasoline Let Go.

Huntington, Ind., April 9.—Mertus Zam, tailor, was seriously burned when gasoline exploded in the tailoring shop of L. E. Perry. The fire which followed damaged four business rooms.

FEDERALS LOSE OUT IN HOT ENGAGEMENT

Rebels Vigorously Press Campaign In Sinaloa

Culiacan, Sinaloa, April 9.—Between Betes and Pericos four hundred rebels attacked 100 state and federal troops and the rebels were left in possession of the battle ground. The government troops were dispersed and an American counted ten of their dead from a car window as the train passed. The dead is said to include the commanding officer, thought to be Don Herculano De La Rocha. He was the strongest leader for the government and the only important Maderista mayor now loyal to Madero. It is rumored that Colonel Pino Suarez, brother of the vice president of Mexico, was killed in the fight. He was in charge of all state troops until the federals were brought in. It was thought he was sent here by Madero to be lined up for the governorship, but the great indignation of the people over Madero's foisting his brother on them as vice president caused them to give him a cold reception.

At Culiacan fifteen federals and seven rebels were killed in a hot engagement, but the federals retained the battle ground by the arrival of reinforcements. There was a rebel victory in Elala. The state is in chaos for lack of a governor, and the rebels are likely to attack Culiacan any day. The federals are panicky over defeats in Jimenez.

SUDDEN DEATH

Reveals Pathetic Secret of Head of Conservatory of Music.

New York, April 9.—Louis G. Parma, president of the New York Conservatory of Music, did not appear at all on Sunday, and when his housekeeper failed to see him yesterday she unhinged the door of the room in which he was. She found Parma dead, sitting on the edge of the bed. Beside him sat a gibbering, teetering woman who for nine years had not left the room. She passed as his wife, although she was thirty-five years younger than he.

Later, when the coroner came, he found her crouched in a corner of the room, which was filled with filth. She was unable to answer any of the coroner's questions capably. She was sent to Bellevue hospital to have her sanity examined.

Parma was a man of seventy-one. Nine years ago he took the Lenox avenue house, a handsome brownstone house, four stories high. He engaged a Mrs. Clinton as a housekeeper. She was made to understand clearly at the start that she was not to go near his room on the second floor front.

For nine years things went on as they had started. Parma would have breakfast downstairs; then he would take a tray of food up to the room on the second floor front. He would stay in the room for a short time, and then take up his business of giving lessons to the pupils who came in the morning. Lunch he would also carry upstairs. Afternoons he would saunter out for a stroll, while the room of mystery remained dark as ever, with the door into the hall always closed. After supper he would take some more food to his wife, and then stay in the room all the evening.

DELEGATE AND PASTOR ATTEND

John F. Boyd and the Rev. J. B. Meacham go to Cambridge City For Whitewater Presbytery.

IT WILL BE CLOSED TONIGHT

John F. Boyd, lay delegate from the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. J. B. Meacham, the pastor, went to Cambridge City last night to attend the session of Whitewater Presbytery. The presbytery will close tonight with a popular meeting at 7:30 o'clock, to which the public is invited. The speakers for this evening are the Revs. Campbell L. McKay of Cincinnati, and Thomas R. White, who is the synod's pastor to the Presbyterian students at Indiana University at Bloomington.

Today was given over principally to the transaction of routine business such as the election of moderator and temporary clerk; appointment of temporary committees; filling of vacancies in committees and the selection of the place of the next meeting. Last night the meeting was opened by the moderator, the Rev. C. C. Meek.

NEWCASTLE ADVICE.

Newcastle Times: To be consistent, the Rush county board of education, after adopting a rule forbidding the young lady school teacher to attend dances of any kind, should have adopted one more resolution—providing that the office of any member of the board who should smoke, chew, drink or swear, should be declared vacant forthwith. Bet our hat there would be several new office holders in Rush county.

SENTENCED YOUNG GIRL TO JAIL TERM

Squire Davis of Knightstown Exceeded Jurisdiction According to Proceedings of Prosecutor.

FOR JUVENILE COURT TO HEAR

That Squire Davis, the Knightstown justice of the peace, exceeded his rights and jurisdiction when he committed Margaret Hart, a pretty sixteen-year-old Knightstown girl to jail for twenty days after she had pleaded guilty to the charge of prostitution, is indicated by proceedings instituted by the prosecuting attorney, says the New Castle Courier. The girl was placed in jail here Friday afternoon.

The prosecutor filed an affidavit asking the court to place the girl under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. In the affidavit it is specified that she should have been committed to that court by the justice of the peace instead of being fined and sent to jail in default of payment of the fine and costs.

The law governing the juvenile court and cases holds that boys under the age of sixteen and girls under the age of seventeen, except where charged with a crime punishable by death or life imprisonment, shall have their cases heard by the juvenile courts.

BROKEN COLLAR BONE.

WILL STRAIGHTEN SCHOOL TANGLE

State Superintendent Urges Enumeration be Taken by Congressional Townships.

LOCAL ENUMERATORS NAMED

Charles A. Greathouse, State superintendent of public instruction, has issued a letter to county superintendents, urging that all township trustees and city and town school officials enumerate the pupils of school age this year according to congressional townships, as well as by civil townships. The data thus collected, it is planned, to use in helping county auditors and the State board of accounts in straightening out the tangles into which several years of carelessness have thrown the congressional fund.

Mr. Greathouse has assured the enumeration officials that he has no rules to lay down concerning the methods of taking the enumeration, and that he will only ask that the law requiring an accurate and honest enumeration of persons of school age be followed.

A. R. Holden, a member of the city school board, and his daughter, Miss Laura Holden, will take the city enumeration. They will begin the canvass tomorrow and expect to be through by the first of next month. It has been customary for a member of the school board to take the enumeration here.
